MICHELLE NAZAROFF

Michelle Nazaroff has overcome a life threatening heart condition to become one of the world's finest female figure competitors.

Her story is truly inspirational and shows exactly what anyone can achieve if they have the determination and the willingness to believe in themselves and to transform their dreams and goals into reality.

Michelle and her husband David have their own personal training business based in Western Australia called NazaFit. Their mission in life is to inspire their clients on how to become a living testament of health and vitality and to ensure they achieve their health and fitness goals no matter what hurdles that may come along the way.

I think it is fantastic to see this super fit couple who have so much passion for helping others achieve their health and fitness goals.
